ii. Acknowledgements

We would like to express our cordial thanks to the respondents of the quantitative and qualitative survey, Suvey team members like enumerators, Kobo specialist for their untiring efforts and supports, without their contribution it was not possible to prepare this report.

We remember with thankful heart the PRiME project and BNPS officials who are working in different places and positions. All of them supported us a lot in their position to plan, methodology finalization, tools development, supervise data collection, data validation, arranging FGD, KII, relevant documents and other relevant issues. The consulting team members enjoyed a homely environment from beginning to end of this evaluation process.

We extend our cordial thanks to Shanaz Smi, Muzib Mehdi, Moniruzzaman Mukul, Sanjoy Mazumdar and Nibedita Barmon for their constant cooperation, suggestion, guideline and coordination to finalize the methodology, planning, survey tools, report structure and supporting field data collection.

We would like to thank Shahnaz Sumi, Director and Muzib Mehdy, Deputy Director of BNPS for their unprecedented support and with documents ensuring, tools preparation, guidance being physically present at field.

We extend our sincere thanks to the Study team members Rita Roselin Costa and Qazi Robiul Alam who were involved in their Baseline Study.

iii. Affirmation

This evaluation report has been prepared by A.M. Rasheduzzaman Khan and his team, in alignment with the objectives outlined in the Terms of Reference (ToR) developed by BNPS and the PRiME Project. The data and information presented in this document were gathered directly from the PRiME Project's working areas through a combination of quantitative surveys, focus group discussions (FGDs), and key informant interviews (KIIs). We trust that this information will assist the PRiME Project and BNPS management in their reporting efforts and contribute to the design of similar initiatives.

The primary quantitative and qualitative data collected during the Baseline Survey remain the property of the PRiME Project participants referenced in this report. Any use of this information must be authorized by the respective authorities of the PRiME Project and BNPS.

On behalf of the study team members,

A M Rasheduzzaman Khan Lead Consultant
