This study titled “Child Labour in Keranigonj Apparel Hub” has been prepared incorporating the findings of the “Baseline Study on Child Labour in Keranigonj Apparel Hub” conducted in 2015. It has been accomplished with extensive consultative support from a wide range of people, including my team, and we would like to acknowledge their support.

I gratefully acknowledge the valuable contribution from the team members, specifically Mr. Bayezid Dawla, engaged in conducting the study. The hard work the team has done to complete the study for the Bangladesh Labour Foundation within a period of three months deserves special appreciation.

I would be failing my duty If I did not thank the Executive Director of the BLF and the management team, including staff members of different units for their efforts to make the study credible.

I am grateful to Friedrich-Ebert-Stiftung for providing support, input and comments.

I would like to express my sincere gratitude to all other staff members for their all-out support during the study, and, not least, the child workers, factory owners, factory management staff, trade union leaders and the government officials who provided information during the FGDs, and discussions. I gratefully acknowledge the cooperation of the members of the Child Rights Advocacy Coalition in Bangladesh during the study.

Finally, I wish the BLF all the best in its future work with the stakeholders—both women and men and the workers of Bangladesh—to develop themselves as defenders of workers’ rights with enhanced capabilities to function, act and live with dignity.

Head of the Study Team
